

Looking for a summer job in a growing industry?

Then join us at Food For Thought June 26–July 31, 2014!

Our paid internships offer summer work for youth ages 13–18, with classes in entrepreneurship, cooking, and job skills, workshops and trips to green businesses, and a lot of interesting things to do with a great group of young people. A community engagement component shows participants how to help solve local food-security problems.

Meet great people!

Have lots of fun!

Earn some money!

What You Will Do As Our Intern:

- Learn organic gardening from local experts
- Meet and learn from local “green” business leaders & entrepreneurs
- Have lots of fun and cook and eat great food
- Play a powerful role in making your community a better place

Food For Thought has earned recognition locally as a powerful, high quality program combining green job experience with activities creating a blueprint for healthy lives and communities.
